CREATIVE LEADER, AUTHOR, SPEAKER

Hello, my name is Ebony King. I am a Dallas, Texas native currently making my mark in Alpharetta, GA. I am a creative leader, writer, and speaker. While I am very down-to-earth, you'll always find me with my head in the clouds. I have seen my share of hardship, which has kept me grounded and passionate about helping others succeed. My high school teacher gave me the nickname "Cloud Girl" because she said my thoughts were often farfetched. As an adult, those cloud-like dreams continue to spark my creativity and empower me to help others see beyond their current situation.

Through my non-profit, Tabitha's TEA Party, I empower women to GET UP from dead places. We host Bible studies through TEA Parties and annual conferences to help women connect, create, and draw closer to their God-given identity. Tabitha's TEA Party is named after a female disciple in the book of Acts who was known for doing good and helping the poor. Through her story, we learn that she died and was raised from death by prayer. She is an example that God can get you up from anything, and he can help you find life even in the places you thought were dead. My testimony is a story of a girl who got up, which inspired my most recent book, Black Wings Still Fly. Black Wings Still Fly, for anyone who has ever felt their adversity was too heavy for them to rise.

I am also the visionary behind Think King Consulting Group, where I help people and organizations transform forward by THINKING greater about their goals, concepts, and vision. Professionally, I am an IT Sales Manager for a Software Company where I lead a healthy, happy, high-performing sales team.

I guess you can say I wear a lot of hats and heels, but there's nothing more rewarding than my first ministry and business—being a wife and mom. My husband and I are building a legacy for our four children so that our ceiling becomes their floor.

TESTIMONIALS

"Ebony King was just the right amount of fortitude and courage that many of our members, including myself needed in order to recharge us for what's ahead."

- E. Carrington, Jack and Jill of America

"Ebony King has been one of the most powerful and compelling speakers that has graced our organization's stage. Her non-traditional delivery allows attendees to be open-minded to realistic expectations of becoming and living the best version of themselves."

- Cheryl R., SEE

"Ebony is an excellent speaker and teacher with great insight on various topics related to leadership, ministry, and business. I've personally experienced transformation and a change in thought and perspective in all of those areas. Her spirit, energy, and gifts are necessary in the marketplace and in ministry."

- Dr. Estrelita B.,

A NEW ME Counseling & Consulting LLC

"Ebony is an anointed TEACHER and makes her messages so relatable that everyone in the room feels as though they were specifically tailored for them. Anytime Everyday Connect4 invites Mrs. Ebony King in the room to speak, tools are delivered that allow one to build better."

- Angel M.S, Everyday Connect4
